ii) ‘Modern slavery’ includes human trafficking, slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour for the purpose of exploitation.

² “Separated children” are children, as defined in article 1 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child, who have been separated from both parents, or from their previous legal or customary primary caregiver, but not necessarily from other relatives. These may, therefore, include children accompanied by other adult family members.
